

HE BADE US FAREWELL

AND THE TRAIN ROLLED ON TOWARD ARABAMA.
PRESIDENT HARRISON'S DEPARTURE.

His Speech from the Platform Before Leaving—Incidents Along the Route to Birmingham—An Ovation.

The president and his party bade adieu to Atlanta at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Half an hour before, Mayor Hemphill, Hon. A. L. Kontz and other members of the local committee, called at the Kimball to pay their respects and escort the party to their train.

The president is an early riser, and before 8 o'clock the party was seated at breakfast in the hotel. A splendid night's rest had been enjoyed by the president and his party.

A succulent Georgia spring chicken, of the yellow-legged variety, formed the basis of the president's breakfast, this supplemented, of course, by all the delicacies of the season.

"Good morning, gentlemen," was the president's greeting, a few minutes later, as he advanced to shake hands with Mayor Hemphill and the other gentlemen who were awaiting him in the hotel parlors.

"A beautiful morning, is it not?" he continued. Then, replying to the question of the mayor, "Yes, indeed; I enjoyed a splendid night's rest, and feel fresh and well fortified for my journey. And I must say, Mr. Hemphill, that I am sorry I haven't longer to enjoy the hospitality of the good people of Atlanta."

It was time to start for the depot. The streets about the hotel were lined with people, and around the depot a large crowd had gathered. Mayor Hemphill escorted the president and Mrs. Harrison to their carriage, and the three were driven to the depot entrance.

The other members of the party preferred walking. Mr. Kontz acted as escort to Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Russell Harrison and Mrs. Dimmick, while others of the committee took the gentlemen in charge.

A few minutes before the train's leaving time, Mayor Hemphill invited the president to the rear platform, informing him that the people were anxious to hear from him.

A cheer greeted the gentlemen upon their appearance at the car door. "It gives me great pleasure," said Mayor Hemphill, "to introduce to you the president of these United States. He will say goodbye to you."

Bowing in response to the applause, the president said: "I desire, in parting from you, to give public expression of my satisfaction and enjoyment in my brief visit to Atlanta. I saw a city, once under the domination of a very unfavorable character. I did not think I would like it, although we were making great efforts to get it. [Laughter.] I am glad after all these years to see the great prosperity and development that has come to this city. I am able to understand some of the influences that are at the bottom of it, and I am sure that I took into the fact of a community that, whatever their differences may have been, have nevertheless viewed the question of the war when it was upon us, can have but one thought as to what was best. We can all say with the confederate soldier who carried a gun for what seemed to him to be right, that God knew better than we of us what was best for the country and for the world."

You are thankful for what he has wrought and chiefly for emancipation. It has opened up to diversified industries these states that were otherwise exclusively agricultural and made it possible for you not only to raise cotton but to spin and weave it and have made Georgia such a state as it could not have been under the old conditions. I am sure we have many common purposes, and as God shall give us power to see truth and right, let us do our duty and while exalting all our own rights, let us bravely and generously give every other man his equal rights before the law. [Cheers.]

Thanking you for your reception which has been warm and hospitable, I go from you very grateful for your kindness and very full of hope for your future. I cannot wish more than that those enterprising land owners, whose work in grading and laying new additions I saw yesterday, will realize all their hopes. I am very sure that if done Atlanta will not long be rated the second city of the south. [Cheers.]

When the president had finished, Mayor Hemphill proposed "three cheers for the president." They were given with a will. Then there were calls for Wanamaker. These brought the postmaster general to the platform, who, upon being introduced, said: "That man is unfortunate who is called on to speak after a president. But at such a moment as this parting from people, who in a single night have shown so much kindness and good fellowship, it is not unusual for me to feel that I am speaking for your most generous welcome. Of all objects in your city, I have looked with most interest upon the house where a great light had gone out and felt again the common sorrow in the absence of Henry Grady, a man whose life and influences were larger than Atlanta."

The words he spoke and the principles he stood for cannot be forgotten. If we can but learn to know each other and understand each other there will be fewer differences than might be supposed. By more frequent intercourse and a fair consideration of each other, we should rise to a higher level of happiness. I wish we had come sooner and could say long. [Cheers.]

The reference to Mr. Grady was loudly cheered. As the postmaster general concluded, the signal for the starting of the train was given and bidding a farewell to the president, Mrs. Harrison and other members of the party, the mayor and members of the committee stepped from the car.

THE TRIAL POSTPONED

ON ACCOUNT OF THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.
JULIA MARTIN TO FACE A JURY TODAY

To Answer the Charge of Murdering Her Brother-in-Law in Birmingham—The Story the Woman Tells.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 16.—The case of Mrs. Julia Martin, charged with the murder of Ed Martin, her brother-in-law, was called today, but on account of the president's visit continued till tomorrow.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PARTIES.
Mrs. Martin is about thirty years of age; is above medium height; is a brunette, and has a pretty face, with an eager, expectant expression. In her youth she was a charming, gay, graceful and in every way a pretty, fascinating girl. The maiden name was Julia Fawcett and she comes of a family of Macon, Ga., whose social standing is the very best.

Her husband, Ed Martin, was a member of an old, numerous and influential family, and was about thirty-five years of age. He made a fortune in the Birmingham boom, was a wealthy real estate dealer, and president of the East Birmingham dummy line.

THE SHOOTING OF MARTIN.
The crime for which Mrs. Martin is on trial for her life was committed on October 6, 1890, at 3:30 p. m., on the principal thoroughfare of the city. The woman had visited Martin at his office a few days away, and to escape her he had come out. She followed him, seemingly entreating him to talk to her, and when he turned from her at the corner, she drew a pistol and fired, the ball entering his side and lodging in the bowels.

"I don't know," she exclaimed, and was taken home, where the doctors cut him open and he died the next night.

"Where is an officer? I desire to give myself up," she said, and was taken to jail where she has been since.

CLARENCE MARTIN PROMPTLY DENIED BEING MARRIED TO THE WOMAN.
Her story is as follows: She met Clarence D. Martin in Euflavia, in 1884. He became enamored of her and asked her to marry him. He then went to Galveston, Texas, sent back for her, and they lived there for two years as man and wife, going in the best society. He then proposed marriage; they went to Austin, were married by the Episcopal rector and subsequently settled down and lived happily in Dallas, Texas. Ed Martin, about two years ago, came to Birmingham and induced her to desert her wife, and finally, in January, 1890, her husband left her. She supported herself as a dressmaker, but the assistance of a monthly allowance sent her from Birmingham, as she supposed, by her husband, but in reality by Ed Martin.

At the time she was at Eureka Springs, and met a man named W. E. Embury, of Nashville, who paid assiduous court to her, whose advances she resisted. Finally Embury left, and she was left alone. She then met Clarence Martin, who desired proof of adultery on her part in order to procure a divorce. The white porter of the hotel also came forward, and acknowledged after his arrest that Mrs. Martin was not what she should be—that he was a detective employed to trap her, and represented the Kerner Detective Agency, of Birmingham, which was in the pay of Ed Martin.

CLARENCE MARTIN'S REMARKS.
"Where did you get that dress?" he said to her on the sidewalk.

"I sewed and made the money!" she replied. "You can't tell me. Virtue and work don't go together," he replied contemptuously as he turned away.

And then I shot him! This is her story, which is strongly corroborated. Public sentiment has all the while been strongly in her favor.

THE JURY COULD NOT AGREE.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.] An interesting case on trial in the federal court is that of Tom Montgomery, a former lawyer and now a country storekeeper, charged with opening the mails by purloining letters confided to him as agent. He was arrested in March, 1890, the alleged crime having been detected by the post office inspectors. In his valise were letters addressed to the New Orleans lottery, which the contents had been taken, and several doctors which had been privately marked by post office inspectors were found on his person. The jury in the case reported to Judge Key at noon that they could not agree upon a verdict. Six of the jury were for acquittal.

A FUGITIVE SUICIDE.
RALEIGH, N. C., April 16.—[Special.] Particulars were learned today of the suicide of J. H. Harrison, a well-to-do farmer of Johnston county, aged sixty years. Harrison left his house, near Clayton, during the absence of his family, taking the train for Raleigh. He was found dead in a landauau at Clayton. He drank the contents of one, it appears, and fell beside the road, where he remained for hours. He recovered sufficiently to travel several miles during the night, and then, lying down in some woods near a country church, drank the contents of the other bottle, which killed him. He was unconscious when found by a party of hunters, and was taken to the hospital, as no possible reason for suicide is known.

THE FIREMAN DISCHARGED.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.] Myron Manker, a brother of David Manker, who was killed some weeks ago in an accident on the bell railroad, as telegraphed, has been discharged from his position on the road. Firemen will investigate it and it may result in a strike.

THE GRIP'S INROADS.
NEW YORK, April 16.—The bureau of vital statistics record for the past twenty-four hours ending at noon today shows the mortality to be the greatest of any day this year. The number of deaths was 227. Twenty-two of these were caused by grip. The total deaths to date from grip, complicated with other diseases, is put down as 215. The loss of life is a record in the downward grade. Today the figures are 150.

WHAT RUDDY SAID

WHEN SECRETARY BLAINE'S ANSWER HAD BEEN READ.

That the Guilty Parties Be Brought to Justice and Indemnity Be Paid to the Families of Italy's Subjects.

ROME, April 16.—The reply of Secretary Blaine received attention in the chamber of deputies today. Questions in regard to it were raised by various members.

Premier di Rudini, in replying, said that the Italian government had not yet received Mr. Blaine's note. He was not prepared to make a definite statement to the chamber of the views and purposes of the cabinet until the note had been officially received and carefully read and considered.

However, he could not admit that the diplomatic incident was purely a matter of Italian subjects. He acknowledged the duty of delivering the guilty parties over to justice, and had acknowledged the further duty of indemnifying the families of the victims who were Italian subjects. Italy could not admit that the United States government had no responsibility for acts committed within the jurisdiction of individual states. This phase of the present complication was, in his opinion, one which interested not only Italy, but all governments of the civilized world. He felt confident, however, that the matter would be settled without creating political difficulties between Italy and America. But he could not refrain from expressing a feeling of regret that the government of the country so highly civilized as the United States should not fulfill duties of justice and morality.

HOPES THERE WILL BE PEACE.
In conclusion, Rudini gave expression to the hope that, notwithstanding the occurrence of the diplomatic incident, the friendship between Italy and America, means of conciliation honorable to both countries would be found.

EDWARD T. MARTIN, her victim, was a member of an old, numerous and influential family, and was about thirty-five years of age. He made a fortune in the Birmingham boom, was a wealthy real estate dealer, and president of the East Birmingham dummy line.

THE SHOOTING OF MARTIN.
The crime for which Mrs. Martin is on trial for her life was committed on October 6, 1890, at 3:30 p. m., on the principal thoroughfare of the city. The woman had visited Martin at his office a few days away, and to escape her he had come out. She followed him, seemingly entreating him to talk to her, and when he turned from her at the corner, she drew a pistol and fired, the ball entering his side and lodging in the bowels.

"I don't know," she exclaimed, and was taken home, where the doctors cut him open and he died the next night.

"Where is an officer? I desire to give myself up," she said, and was taken to jail where she has been since.

CLARENCE MARTIN PROMPTLY DENIED BEING MARRIED TO THE WOMAN.
Her story is as follows: She met Clarence D. Martin in Euflavia, in 1884. He became enamored of her and asked her to marry him. He then went to Galveston, Texas, sent back for her, and they lived there for two years as man and wife, going in the best society. He then proposed marriage; they went to Austin, were married by the Episcopal rector and subsequently settled down and lived happily in Dallas, Texas. Ed Martin, about two years ago, came to Birmingham and induced her to desert her wife, and finally, in January, 1890, her husband left her. She supported herself as a dressmaker, but the assistance of a monthly allowance sent her from Birmingham, as she supposed, by her husband, but in reality by Ed Martin.

At the time she was at Eureka Springs, and met a man named W. E. Embury, of Nashville, who paid assiduous court to her, whose advances she resisted. Finally Embury left, and she was left alone. She then met Clarence Martin, who desired proof of adultery on her part in order to procure a divorce. The white porter of the hotel also came forward, and acknowledged after his arrest that Mrs. Martin was not what she should be—that he was a detective employed to trap her, and represented the Kerner Detective Agency, of Birmingham, which was in the pay of Ed Martin.

CLARENCE MARTIN'S REMARKS.
"Where did you get that dress?" he said to her on the sidewalk.

"I sewed and made the money!" she replied. "You can't tell me. Virtue and work don't go together," he replied contemptuously as he turned away.

And then I shot him! This is her story, which is strongly corroborated. Public sentiment has all the while been strongly in her favor.

THE JURY COULD NOT AGREE.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.] An interesting case on trial in the federal court is that of Tom Montgomery, a former lawyer and now a country storekeeper, charged with opening the mails by purloining letters confided to him as agent. He was arrested in March, 1890, the alleged crime having been detected by the post office inspectors. In his valise were letters addressed to the New Orleans lottery, which the contents had been taken, and several doctors which had been privately marked by post office inspectors were found on his person. The jury in the case reported to Judge Key at noon that they could not agree upon a verdict. Six of the jury were for acquittal.

A FUGITIVE SUICIDE.
RALEIGH, N. C., April 16.—[Special.] Particulars were learned today of the suicide of J. H. Harrison, a well-to-do farmer of Johnston county, aged sixty years. Harrison left his house, near Clayton, during the absence of his family, taking the train for Raleigh. He was found dead in a landauau at Clayton. He drank the contents of one, it appears, and fell beside the road, where he remained for hours. He recovered sufficiently to travel several miles during the night, and then, lying down in some woods near a country church, drank the contents of the other bottle, which killed him. He was unconscious when found by a party of hunters, and was taken to the hospital, as no possible reason for suicide is known.

THE TRIAL POSTPONED

ON ACCOUNT OF THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.
JULIA MARTIN TO FACE A JURY TODAY

To Answer the Charge of Murdering Her Brother-in-Law in Birmingham—The Story the Woman Tells.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 16.—The case of Mrs. Julia Martin, charged with the murder of Ed Martin, her brother-in-law, was called today, but on account of the president's visit continued till tomorrow.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PARTIES.
Mrs. Martin is about thirty years of age; is above medium height; is a brunette, and has a pretty face, with an eager, expectant expression. In her youth she was a charming, gay, graceful and in every way a pretty, fascinating girl. The maiden name was Julia Fawcett and she comes of a family of Macon, Ga., whose social standing is the very best.

Her husband, Ed Martin, was a member of an old, numerous and influential family, and was about thirty-five years of age. He made a fortune in the Birmingham boom, was a wealthy real estate dealer, and president of the East Birmingham dummy line.

THE SHOOTING OF MARTIN.
The crime for which Mrs. Martin is on trial for her life was committed on October 6, 1890, at 3:30 p. m., on the principal thoroughfare of the city. The woman had visited Martin at his office a few days away, and to escape her he had come out. She followed him, seemingly entreating him to talk to her, and when he turned from her at the corner, she drew a pistol and fired, the ball entering his side and lodging in the bowels.

"I don't know," she exclaimed, and was taken home, where the doctors cut him open and he died the next night.

"Where is an officer? I desire to give myself up," she said, and was taken to jail where she has been since.

CLARENCE MARTIN PROMPTLY DENIED BEING MARRIED TO THE WOMAN.
Her story is as follows: She met Clarence D. Martin in Euflavia, in 1884. He became enamored of her and asked her to marry him. He then went to Galveston, Texas, sent back for her, and they lived there for two years as man and wife, going in the best society. He then proposed marriage; they went to Austin, were married by the Episcopal rector and subsequently settled down and lived happily in Dallas, Texas. Ed Martin, about two years ago, came to Birmingham and induced her to desert her wife, and finally, in January, 1890, her husband left her. She supported herself as a dressmaker, but the assistance of a monthly allowance sent her from Birmingham, as she supposed, by her husband, but in reality by Ed Martin.

At the time she was at Eureka Springs, and met a man named W. E. Embury, of Nashville, who paid assiduous court to her, whose advances she resisted. Finally Embury left, and she was left alone. She then met Clarence Martin, who desired proof of adultery on her part in order to procure a divorce. The white porter of the hotel also came forward, and acknowledged after his arrest that Mrs. Martin was not what she should be—that he was a detective employed to trap her, and represented the Kerner Detective Agency, of Birmingham, which was in the pay of Ed Martin.

CLARENCE MARTIN'S REMARKS.
"Where did you get that dress?" he said to her on the sidewalk.

"I sewed and made the money!" she replied. "You can't tell me. Virtue and work don't go together," he replied contemptuously as he turned away.

And then I shot him! This is her story, which is strongly corroborated. Public sentiment has all the while been strongly in her favor.

THE JURY COULD NOT AGREE.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.] An interesting case on trial in the federal court is that of Tom Montgomery, a former lawyer and now a country storekeeper, charged with opening the mails by purloining letters confided to him as agent. He was arrested in March, 1890, the alleged crime having been detected by the post office inspectors. In his valise were letters addressed to the New Orleans lottery, which the contents had been taken, and several doctors which had been privately marked by post office inspectors were found on his person. The jury in the case reported to Judge Key at noon that they could not agree upon a verdict. Six of the jury were for acquittal.

A FUGITIVE SUICIDE.
RALEIGH, N. C., April 16.—[Special.] Particulars were learned today of the suicide of J. H. Harrison, a well-to-do farmer of Johnston county, aged sixty years. Harrison left his house, near Clayton, during the absence of his family, taking the train for Raleigh. He was found dead in a landauau at Clayton. He drank the contents of one, it appears, and fell beside the road, where he remained for hours. He recovered sufficiently to travel several miles during the night, and then, lying down in some woods near a country church, drank the contents of the other bottle, which killed him. He was unconscious when found by a party of hunters, and was taken to the hospital, as no possible reason for suicide is known.

THE FIREMAN DISCHARGED.
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 16.—[Special.] Myron Manker, a brother of David Manker, who was killed some weeks ago in an accident on the bell railroad, as telegraphed, has been discharged from his position on the road. Firemen will investigate it and it may result in a strike.

THE GRIP'S INROADS.
NEW YORK, April 16.—The bureau of vital statistics record for the past twenty-four hours ending at noon today shows the mortality to be the greatest of any day this year. The number of deaths was 227. Twenty-two of these were caused by grip. The total deaths to date from grip, complicated with other diseases, is put down as 215. The loss of life is a record in the downward grade. Today the figures are 150.

ARRESTING THE RIOTERS.

THE MAYOR OF CHARLOTTE TAKING ACTIVE STEPS.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 16.—[Special.]—The police have been busy for the past few days getting up evidence to convict the ring-leaders in the mobbing business last Sunday night, of both the white and colored factions, and today the work of making arrests was begun. Attention is first being paid to the white people, and several men were this afternoon arrested by the police on warrants issued by the mayor. It is said that fifteen are on the list.

The police have been getting up the evidence in a quiet manner, and the news that they were on the warpath with warrants today created a considerable flutter. The names of a dozen or more negroes have been secured. Mayor McDowell says that he intends to punish both sides as severely as the law will permit, and that he intends to make a thorough and impartial job of it. The negroes who rescued the prisoner from the police are on the list and will be apprehended in due time. Their names are known and their turn will come as soon as the mobbers have been disposed of. It will be brought to bear upon every one engaged in the disturbance. The parties upon whom warrants were served this afternoon are L. T. Hitt, John H. Hitt, and John H. Hitt. The trial is to take place at 9 o'clock in the morning, and a large number of witnesses have been summoned.

A TRIBUTE TO GORMAN.
One Thousand Ounces of Silver in Unique Design.
BALTIMORE, Md., April 16.—[Special.]—On May 15th the admirers of Senator Gorman, and those who, without regard to party, endorse his splendid tactical management in the senate in defeating the force bill, will present to him a handsome silver service. It will number over 300 pieces, weighing over 1,000 ounces of silver, to cost nearly $8,000. Some of the pieces are typical of the soil and water products of this state, and are masterpieces of the silversmith's art. The testimonial piece is wrought in rich repoussé work, showing the tobacco plant, the Baltimore oyster, the bird, wheat, corn and golden rods, while on one side is the Maryland coat of arms. Many of the peculiar products of the south are likewise represented. The general subscription list is not yet closed, but it is not thought that those who guaranteed upwards of $6,000 to the fund will be called on to make up a deficiency. General James E. Blaine, the treasurer of the fund, reports that the number of subscribers is very large. This is just as was intended, as it is the desire that it be a testimonial of popular appreciation of the senator's services. The service will be presented a parchment list containing the names without the amounts attached, of those who have in this manner signified their high esteem of Mr. Gorman.

MONEY FOR THE STRIKERS.
The Struggle in the Coke Regions for the Mastery.
SCOTTSDALE, April 16.—Nine weeks ago today the coke region was plunged into idleness by the strike, but it looks as though it would soon end. The much promised aid materialized this evening, when James McBride, local representative, who has been in conference with the executive council of the Federation of Labor and United Mine Workers, arrived from Columbus with a large sum of relief money. On reaching labor headquarters he was besieged by committees from nearly every plant in the region, and several thousand dollars was quickly disbursed.

The labor officials say that the sum received is sufficient to carry on the strike several weeks. The operators continue their inroad on the strikers' ranks.

Today the Frick Company started their Summit plant with thirty men. They increased the number of men at the plant, where twenty-eight men were fired, and at Leisenring No. 2, were 150 men at work, and 128 others charged. They also reported recruits working for the Frick Company at Leisenring No. 2. At Morewood there was no increase. This company shipped about 110 cars of coke today.

SEE HOLDS THE FORT.
Phoebe Cousins Determined Not to Relinquish Her Office.
CHICAGO, April 16.—The strife between Miss Phoebe Cousins, secretary of the board of lady managers of the world's fair, and the executive committee of the body has taken a new phase. When she reached Chicago this morning she found it locked, and the janitor of the building informed her that he had been instructed not to permit her to enter. Cousins thereupon took possession of an adjoining room and announced that she would hold possession of it day and night until the trouble is settled. She continued to hold the fort, and this afternoon sent out for a luncheon. The ladies' executive committee appointed a successor for Miss Cousins. Their choice was Mrs. Susan G. Cook, of Tennessee, who was declared acting secretary of the world's fair board of lady managers, vice Phoebe Cousins, discharged.

Aside from the deadlock in the women's department, the world's fair is doing quite well.

LARGE FIRE IN NEW YORK.
Burning of the Ross Building—The Loss Very Heavy.
NEW YORK, April 17.—Fire broke out last night in the Ross building, adjoining the big Taggart storage warehouse, Abington square, destroying the first and second floors, and at 1 o'clock a. m., the fire in the warehouse is beyond control. The loss already exceeds $500,000. Station "C," New York postoffice, was in the building, but the mails were saved. Among the heaviest losers are the New York Wagon Company, Automatic Delivering Company, Edward Bloncke, electrical goods; Seidell, hat store; F. M. Thayer, silversmith; Andrew & Co., brass workers.

NO BONES WERE BROKEN.
Though the Young Man Was Caught in the Wheel and Whirled Around.
HELENA, Ga., April 16.—[Special.]—The accident to Mr. Luther J. Norman, at Barrett's sawmill, was one of the most wonderful on record. His leg was caught in a fast-dying wheel, and he was whirled around it, but not a bone was broken, though escape from death seemed impossible to those who witnessed the accident.

THE SUN'S COTTON REVIEW.
New York, April 16.—Futures opened slightly dearer, further improved, closing quiet and steady three to four points advance on yesterday's final prices. One better report from Liverpool, where there was some improvement, though not fully sustained, put a check upon the selling impulse, which has been somewhat urgent of late, and brought in some demand to cover contracts, causing a slight advance.

Then comes receipts at Bombay only 71,000 bales for the past week against 29,000 bales for the corresponding week last year, causing a slight further rise. But the market was at no time active. In August alone was business a fair average. The weather at the south was reported generally favorable, being warm and dry, except some rain in parts of Texas. Spot cotton was quiet.

THE WINNER INVESTMENT COMPANY, of Kansas City, has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. The company was capitalized for $1,200,000.

The winners of the will of the late Prince Napoleon have formally asked the French government's permission to enter his remains at a private funeral in Paris, where Napoleon I. was born.

CHANCELLOR MCGILL, at Asbury Park, N. J., has appointed ex-State Treasurer Taffey receiver of the Peacocks and Nashville Improvement Company.

The Winner Investment Company, of Kansas City, has made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors. The company was capitalized for $1,200,000.

A VERY CLOSE CALL.

A FEW VOTES WOULD GIVE HIM THE NOMINATION.
FIVE MORE FRUITLESS BALLOTS TAKEN

The Florida Caucus on the Senatorship—Senator Call Lacks Only Four Votes of the Necessary Two-Thirds.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 16.—The first ballot in the joint caucus tonight (the sixth of the series) resulted as follows: Call 59, Speer 36, Blighman 2. Seventh ballot—Call 60, Speer 35, Blighman 3. Eighth ballot—Call 59, Speer 35, Blighman 3. Ninth ballot—Call 60, Speer 35, Blighman 2. Tenth ballot—Call 59, Speer 35, Blighman 2.

The Call men here made a motion to adjourn until 8 o'clock Friday night, but the opposition cried "no." The motion finally prevailed, and the caucus adjourned.

One representative has not voted so far in the balloting, awaiting instructions from home. He is likely to be for Call.

By Monday next it is predicted that the two contestants from Suwannee county will be seated—both Call men. This would give Call 63, one short of a two-thirds vote.

WASHBURN'S PLURALITY
Over Cregier in the Chicago Election 1,304.

CHICAGO, April 16.—The official canvass of the election returns for mayor was practically completed today in twenty-nine of thirty-four wards in the city. Taking the official count in the twenty-nine wards and the city hall as official returns for the remaining five wards, the results is a plurality of 1,304 for Hempstead Washburn, republican, over the democratic incumbent, DeWitt C. Cregier. In the official canvass the figures in the several wards will be little or no change from the plurality now given.

REPUBLICANISM IN SOUTH CAROLINA
Many Democrats Said to Have Been Regulated Into the Party.
CHARLESTON, S. C., April 16.—[Special.]—A very significant political meeting was held at the state capital today. It is the first white republican meeting ever held in the state, and it is said to be largely a result of the alliance wave which swept over the state last year. The significance of the meeting was the presence for the first time of a number of leading white citizens who have heretofore been associated with the straight democratic party. Among them were Dr. Brown, Mr. Hannan, of Spartanburg; James Hunter, of Union; Dr. Monroe, of Union, and others. Fifty-one represented. The meeting elected delegates to the republican league convention, which meets at Cincinnati on the 21st. This movement is regarded with some concern here, taken as it is, in consideration of the repeated declaration of the alliance in favor of a third party. The white democrats who are in it say that the old democratic party has been allowed out of existence by the farmers' movement, and as they will not subscribe to the platform and principles of that movement they will go into the republican party. There are so many democrats in this state who are disgusted with the Tillman administration that there is some danger of the move developing into a stampede from the democratic party as it exists in this state at present.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WAKES UP.
CHARLESTON, S. C., April 16.—[Special.]—A national republican platform heroically looked for on Saturday. The reformers have been organizing ward clubs under what they call the new state democratic constitution, ignoring the fact that the city democratic organization is an entirely separate and distinct organization from the county democracy. Under the city party rules there is a distinct executive committee and separate ward officers. The reformers having organized their clubs, have adopted the plans of the farmers' movement and have called a convention to meet in May next, when they will put out a ticket just as Tillman was nominated in March. The city democratic executive committee has a ruler who is a distinct and separate organization, and it is thought that steps will be taken at this meeting to put the democratic party machine in operation. The new reform democratic club.

WHITE CAPS IN VIRGINIA.
Masked Men Burn Buildings and Whip the Occupants.
WHEELING, W. Va., April 16.—Late last night the residence and outbuildings of Henry Church, about thirty miles south of Wheeling, in Wetzel county, were visited by a large number of masked men and destroyed by fire. The occupants, three women and one man, were taken from the burning buildings, stripped and brutally whipped, the man afterward being driven in a nude condition to the woods. The women have also disappeared. It is supposed there is a personal grudge at the bottom of the outrage.

HARRY EDWARDS IN AUGUSTA.
AUGUSTA, Ga., April 16.—[Special.]—Mr. Harry Edwards arrived tonight from Macon on the Georgia coast, and was met by a large number of friends at an entertainment, most famous sketches at an entertainment, to be given tomorrow evening for the benefit of Paul H. Hayne church, at Grovetown.

TELEGRAPH BRIEVITIES.
Secretary Blaine is at Virginia Beach, on a fishing tour.

THE CONSTITUTION.

PUBLISHED DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.
 The Daily, per year (12 Issues) $6.00
 The Sunday (10 to 15 Pages) 3.00
 The Daily and Sunday, per year 8.00
 The Weekly, per year (12 Issues) 1.00
 All Editions Sent Postpaid to any address.
 At reduced rates all subscriptions must be paid in advance.

Contributors must keep copies of articles. We do not undertake to return rejected MSS., and will do so under no circumstances, unless accompanied by return postage.

NICHOLS & EASTON, Advertising Agents.
 Address, CONSTITUTION BUILDING, ATLANTA, GA.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

Parties subscribing for THE CONSTITUTION should be careful to designate which of the editions they want. For instance, we have received several applications for the "DAILY" to find afterwards that both the "DAILY" and "SUNDAY" editions were wanted.

Remember that THE DAILY CONSTITUTION means the edition for the SIX WEEK DAYS, and that costs $6.00 per year.
 THE DAILY AND SUNDAY CONSTITUTION means the paper for EVERY DAY in the week, and costs $8.00 per year. Say what you want, when you subscribe.

12 CENTS PER WEEK

For THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, or 10 cents per calendar month. Sixteen cents per week for THE DAILY AND SUNDAY CONSTITUTION, or 6 cents per calendar month; delivered to any address by carrier in the city of Atlanta. Send in your name at once.

The largest daily circulation of any paper in Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 17, 1891.

Does Injustice to a Democrat.

The New York Sun does an unintentional injustice to a good democrat in an editorial in which it states that the democratic majority in the next congress has been reduced from 142 to 141, by the recent course of the Hon. Tom Watson, of the Tenth Georgia district, who announces, above all things, in favor of the Ocala platform, which should be followed, says The Sun, by a letter to the clerk of the house, directing that his name be taken from the house list of democrats.

Surely The Sun did not read Mr. Watson's letters carefully, or it would not have done him this injustice. He distinctly announced his democratic allegiance, and his career in congress will of course be characterized by his devotion to the party. Mr. Watson's past record does not allow any other presumption.

Concerning the controversy into which Mr. Watson has drifted about his vote in the speakership race, we observe the following statement in his last card to The Augusta Chronicle:

Now, happily, our friends of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION have evacuated their anti-Miller bill position, and are now vigorously teaching tariff reform to those who taught it to them. All of which is funny and consoling. To complete the family circle you say that "The Chronicle is committed to this issue, since it is the party slogan." Mr. Watson's enthusiasm leads him to say a great many things which his own judgment would probably not approve on reflection. We will not enter into a discussion concerning his letter to Judge Crisp, in whom the people of Georgia naturally feel great pride, and whose aspiration for the speakership finds hearty response, not only in Georgia, but throughout the country, for all democrats ought to appreciate Judge Crisp's remarkable efforts in behalf of the party.

There is nothing "funny" in THE CONSTITUTION preaching, to the full extent of its ability, the principles set forth in the platform of the party; it is not nearly so funny as Mr. Watson's attitude of active hostility to Mr. Gorman, of whom Mr. Watson says in The Chronicle card above referred to: "It does not seem to be deniable that Mr. Gorman and his immediate followers decidedly favor Mr. Crisp. This is all right. By itself it means nothing. Taken in connection with Mr. Gorman's well-known tariff record, it may have a significance, and then again it may not. You defend Mr. Gorman. The task is not easy."

We fear that our friend Mr. Watson is writing too much of late—for his own good. In his enthusiasm he should be endeavoring to make more democrats, instead of questioning the fidelity of those who have, to say the least of it, done as much for the party as Mr. Watson. At any rate, there is a feeling around the country just now that Mr. Gorman, particularly, as well as Judge Crisp, have done valiant democratic work of late. But so has Mr. Watson.

Georgia at the World's Fair.

It is the earnest desire of all good citizens to see Georgia well represented at the world's fair. No ordinary exhibit of the state's resources will meet the case. The exhibition must not only be illustrative, but striking. Almost every civilized country will be represented, and the exhibitors will vie with each other in placing their displays to the best advantage.

In order to do this we must have the co-operation of everybody, and the enlightened and harmonious zeal of those in charge of the work. Above all, there must be harmony. Here is one thing upon which all can agree, one object upon which all may unite their energies. Let every man forget himself and think only of the state he represents.

It is no time for factions to indulge their antipathies. In this matter the people will have no patience with anything but earnest work, and they will hold up the hands of those who do their duty regardless of everything else. There is no time to be lost; every day should be made to count, and the state confidently looks to the committees for persistent, unremitting effort from now until the end of the fair. A great responsibility is laid upon them.

Mr. Blaine's Letter.

Mr. Blaine's reply to the demands of the Italian government, which was embodied in yesterday's telegrams, would have been distinctly more important and timelier if the information it contained had been furnished to Radini on the heels of his first letter to this government.

What Mr. Blaine finally says has been dinged in his ears by THE CONSTITUTION and other newspapers from the moment it was definitely known that the Macaroni cabinet had determined to present "demands" to the American government. Coming at this late day, Mr. Blaine's letter has the appearance of having been wrong from the beginning by the exigencies of the situation, when it should have been marked by the promptness and thoroughness which are characteristic of American temperament and methods.

There is no possible objection to the matter of Mr. Blaine's letter from the American point of view. It seems to be frankly taken from the newspapers, and it contains the Webster quotations, which have already been alluded to and commented on by nearly all the editors of the country. This, of course, is not a serious objection, and yet it shows that Mr. Blaine has tried to be evasive when there was no necessity for evasion. It is an open question whether he intended the Italians to believe that this government would grant indemnity to the relations of the assassins who were the victims of their own bloodthirstiness, but it is certain that the vague terms in which he alluded to the matter left that impression, deceiving even that great westerner, A. G. Porter, who is supposed to be looking after American interests in Rome.

Undoubtedly it would have been a great stroke on the part of Mr. Blaine if he had told the Italians that their treaty did not provide for indemnity in such cases, nor for a change in the American constitution in order to secure redress in the courts. His letter, dated the 14th, covers the whole ground in a satisfactory way, but it ought to bear date of a fortnight ago. That is the objection to it.

A Jeffersonian Speech.

The speech of the Hon. Benton McMillin, of Tennessee, at the recent Jeffersonian celebration of the Boston Young Men's Democratic Club, was a notable address.

The speaker arraigned the republican party and the $1,000,000,000 congress for their oppressive methods and their extravagance. He said that the money squandered by the last congress, when divided up, is $16 a minute for all the time since the declaration of independence was signed. It is $60 for every hour since the Saviour was born. The sum total would make the prodigal son blush. It is an increase of $75,000,000 a year over the expenditure of previous congresses, $1.25 each for every inhabitant of our country.

The robber tariff Mr. McMillin denounced as "a tariff for protection, with incidental revenue." It makes revenue a mere accident, and makes commerce a crime. It treats the importer as a malefactor.

The reciprocity act is so constructed that it enables the president to impose $50,000,000 taxes without consulting or consulting congress. It is a delusion and a snare.

In November last the people embraced their first opportunity of protesting against McKinleyism, and the force bill, and the looting of the public treasury. What was the result?

The author of the tariff bill fell outside the walls.

The chairman of the appropriations committee went down.

The author of the bill to take away from the states the right to lay off the congressional districts was beaten in a republican district.

The author of the force bill had his majority of nearly 6,000 reduced to 1,000 by an opponent who did not live in the district.

Only enough republicans were elected to fill a corner in the lower house.

Speaking of the origin and progress of the democratic party, the eloquent Tennesseean said:

You ask me who founded this party? I answer you, the soldiers who fought the battles of the revolution.

You ask me who wrote its creed? I answer, Jefferson, the author of the declaration of independence.

You ask who has expounded this creed? I reply, Jackson, who gave freedom to the seas; Madison, the father of the constitution; Polk, who set our flag to the hills of the Montezuma and to the Pacific, and Cleveland, who gave the country freedom from republican rule and a return to honest government.

You ask whether this party is going. I answer, wherever our flag goes to lift it aloft; wherever our constitution goes to defend it; wherever our citizen goes to protect him.

I am sometimes asked if the democratic party will not go the way all its predecessors have gone? The democratic party will not perish while man loves constitutional government and stands by it.

It has a stronger hold upon the American people today than it has had in a quarter of a century. It has the support of the great majority of the American people, and it is more solidly than it has had in half a century.

A large majority of the great papers in the United States are either democratic, or independent with strong democratic proclivities. Take as an illustration the Youth of New York. A million four hundred thousand papers are issued daily. Of this number less than 200,000 fall from republican presses. What is true of New York is also true of most of the other cities in a less degree.

A majority of the writers and educators of the country are in sympathy with our party, on those essential principles of government upon which the republican and democratic parties are divided.

Agam, of the white vote cast in the presidential contest in 1888, 1,200,000 majority voted the democratic ticket.

No, the democratic party is here to stay. As a great procession it is moving. There are but two places about it. One after it, the other under it. The party that has just vacated the house of representatives has left its record, and upon that record we take issue. We do not propose to allow that record to be forgotten, nor the issue upon it to be evaded. We may expect our antagonist to try to shift the battle line from the field where the banners have trailed in the dust; but we do not propose to be led off from our position to let our antagonist escape under any subterfuge whatsoever.

The plunderer is not to be permitted to escape by raising a delirious cry of "stop the thief." We won't abandon these issues, and they shan't.

It was a rattling good speech, and will revive the cause of Jeffersonian democracy throughout New England. In our campaign of education we need just such speakers and just such speeches all over the country.

Points on the Silver Question.

The Charleston News and Courier, which is in favor of the republican system of finance—being an out-and-out goldbug organ—has a curious remark to the effect that, if the democratic party "is to remain true to its history and principles, it cannot and will not yield to the clamor for the free silver coinage." What is curious about this remark is that it can be made so infinitely various in its bearings. For instance, if the democratic party is to remain true to its history and principles, it will not yield to the pressure in favor of republican financial legislation; if the democratic party is to remain true to its history and principles, it will at once adopt the republican theory of monometallism, and so on.

The history and principles of the democratic party have frequently had the curtain rung up on them, and the announcement has been made—although such an advertisement was unnecessary—that the democratic party is "for gold and silver, the money of the constitution." This quotation the editor of The News and Courier may readily verify if he is familiar with the history and principles of the democratic party.

After while we shall no doubt be told that the democratic party is partly responsible for the demonetization of silver—that it was privy to the corrupt scheme which, by debasing and depreciating the white metal, has robbed the cotton and wheat producers of this country of millions upon millions of dollars and wronged the wage-earners in all departments of industry. We shall hear, if the goldbugs continue to progress in their arguments, that the democratic party endorsed the corrupt demonetization scheme of 1873, and still approves it. As a matter of fact, such a statement would be not one whit more astounding than the contention that the history and principles of the democratic party are arranged against the free coinage of silver.

Our Charleston contemporary, following up its "history and principles" proposition, quotes from Belford's Magazine some remarks to the effect that "Wall street has been the very heart and soul of the silver speculation; and that 'in anticipation of legislation favoring silver, Wall street went into the market and made enormous purchases, and all along has furnished a large share of the inspiration looking to that sort of legislation.'" This and a great deal more to the same purpose our Charleston contemporary quotes from Belford, and it is all true. It is so true, indeed, that every word of it shows the necessity of taking silver out of the market, for the people of this country have too much invested in the metal to permit it to be hawked about by the Wall street speculators.

The only method of putting an end to the speculation is to take silver out of the market by opening our mints to the free coinage of the metal. Then the bullion that goes into a dollar will be worth a dollar, no more, no less—whereas it is now depreciated by both demonetization and speculation, and it will be still further depreciated on the 1st of July and thereafter by the cessation of coinage.

The point to which we desire to direct the attention of The News and Courier is this—that the legislation which Wall street was engaged in furthering was the Sherman bill, which is now a law. This measure was opposed by every honest and sincere free coinage man in congress, and especially was it opposed by the democrats. The law as it stands not only makes the demonetization of silver more thorough, but it invites and promotes that speculation which is the life of Wall street.

There is no remedy for the demonetization of silver but free coinage, and this fact the people thoroughly understand.

It is hardly necessary to remark that Quay hasn't resigned.

Mr. Harrison objects to a cheap coat, but he and all the rest of the republicans are boasting of cheap sugar. Is sugar more important than clothes are?

The president's journey through the south ought to make him a broader-minded man than he was when he started out. It is a trip that ought to thoroughly desecularize his views.

Mr. Harrison says that a cheap coat is as embarrassing as cheap wheat. Yet the tariff fixes in this country the price of the coat the farmer has to buy, while the price of wheat is not only fixed in a free trade country, but is regulated by the value of demonetized silver, which fixes the value of Indian wheat. As Mr. Watterson would remark, the farmer is between the devil and the deep sea.

Mr. Harrison took out an accident policy for $10,000 in Atlanta yesterday. Did he do this because George Forbes's battery spoke too loud in a true believer's ear?

Mr. Cleveland says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

MR. CLEVELAND says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

MR. CLEVELAND says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

MR. CLEVELAND says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

MR. CLEVELAND says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

MR. CLEVELAND says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

MR. CLEVELAND says that he is a democratic partisan. This means, we trust, that he has renounced the civil service reform fund which was invented for the purpose of keeping republicans in office under a democratic administration.

MR. WARD McALLISTER has discovered that an author is completely at the mercy of his publisher. If the publisher is honest or dishonest, the author will never know. He must take what he can get and be thankful. Fortunately, all the American publishers are models of integrity and above suspicion.

other instance of the faith that makes a man sure of a hereafter.

The first issue of The Hogshead Hunter has reached this office. T. P. McCutchen is editor. The paper is well gotten up and displays a fine advertising patronage.

The Hogshead Hunter and News devoted considerable space to the proceedings of the Baptist convention, keeping pace with it with commendable zeal and enterprise. Editor Waterman was in his element when he found his office besieged by ministers.

Here is a picturesque spring poem that suggests the Georgia daisy:

De sun pop up lak he feared he was late,
 Early in de mornin' time;
 De cold lak milk and de sky lak wine,
 Early in de mornin' time.

Woodpecker peekin' on de ole dead pine,
 Early in de mornin' time.
 Hustlin' fur de bug dat mighty hard to fin',
 Early in de mornin' time.

In summing up the list of Georgia orators, Editor Hartledge, of The Savannah Times, modestly states that he is behind them all, and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

Colonel George S. Boyd, general business agent of the Pennsylvania road, who is in charge of the president's party, knows how to do things up in princely style and he has the party in the hands of the train ever built. The train is, however, not stocked with wines. The president is a teetotaler on this trip and "Uncle" Jerry and the boys are having a dry time of it, except when there is a stop over.

and 83d Georgia Reports there are cited 1,243 cases. Of this number

ALANTA'S OWN WAY.

NEARLY $2,000 IN TWO RAINY, BUSY DAYS FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

Made Up of Voluntary Subscriptions Altogether—Postmaster General Wana-maker Subscribes $100.

The growth of the Young Men's Christian Association fund, as shown by the meeting last night at the governor's mansion, is more than had been hoped for.

The two days since the last meeting had been rainy and disagreeable, and busy with demonstrations in honor of the president. Not a single subscription had been solicited by any member of the committee—not one!

Among those present at the mansion last night were Governor Northen, Mayor W. A. Hemphill, Mr. Hugh Inman, Mr. A. C. Bruce, Mr. Sam Inman, Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, Mr. Frank Inman, Captain J. W. English, Captain E. P. Howell, Rev. Dr. Anderson, Captain W. W. Boyd, Rev. W. M. Hayes, of Augusta, commissioner of education for the state, and Assistant Secretary Henry Mays, of the Y. M. C. A.; Mr. A. DeLoach, Mr. W. Woods White, Mr. C. R. Haskins, Mr. Menzo White, Captain E. S. Gay and the Y. M. C. A. Octette—Professor B. C. Davis, leader; Professor D. E. Shumaker, Mr. D. E. Luther, Dr. J. B. Thomas, Mr. Preston Melton, Mr. W. E. Preston, Mr. A. E. Wheeler, Mr. S. S. Lusk, and several ladies, including those of the governor's family.

Captain Howell was chairman. After a song by the Young Men's Christian Association, the prayer was read by Rev. Dr. Anderson, and then Captain Howell briefly explained the object of the meeting.

The Young Men's Christian Association, he said, is a training school for the church. It has not only done good in Atlanta, but it has been an inspiration to a number of other cities in this and the surrounding states. It has encouraged this work in other cities, and done them good. This Atlanta Young Men's Christian Association now lacks only about $3,000 to make itself self-supporting, and our object is to raise that money.

Secretary Licklider was called upon to show how the institution has been doing, and was ready with an interesting abstract of the official reports for the past year. The figures are surprising. They showed, for example, that an aggregate of 100,000 visits to the Young Men's Christian Association were made during the year, mostly by young men; that the association has a membership of 803, of which number 150 are active workers on the various committees. There were statistics showing the interest taken in the Young Men's Christian Association reading room, gymnasium, swimming lessons, shooting gallery—in all 43,430 people had visited the physical department during the year.

There were similar figures to show the work done in a social way by the association, in the way of entertainment, and in educational lines and class work. But most gratifying of all were the reports of religious work; 151 young men had become converted through the instrumentality of the association. Then again the reports of religious work in other cities were given out.

"I tell you," remarked Secretary Licklider, "it takes courage to do that—to stand in front of the people and tell them that you have made such conversions."

Another point in human nature—"Boys and men don't mix well. The way to reach men is to have meetings especially for boys. We have had to neglect the boys somewhat, for we have had no room for them."

Then Captain E. S. Gay, who sat next in the line, was called upon. He responded in a few very appropriate and eloquent remarks. "I have two suggestions to report," said he. "I have not had time to solicit at all, and these were sent me voluntarily. P. & G. T. Dodd gave $200, and a young man gave $25."

This started the applause. "I have here a letter from Mr. Hooper Alexander," said Captain Howell. "He subscribes $100."

This brought forth more applause, and the reading of the letter was applauded again.

Mr. Hugh Inman reported a subscription of $100 from Major D. S. Speed. Mr. W. Woods White reported two subscriptions—$100 from Mr. John M. Moore and $50 from Mr. A. C. Moore.

Mr. Sam Inman reported six—$250 for Captain R. J. Lowry; $100 for Mr. Robert Winslow; $25 for Mrs. Robert Winslow; $100 for Mr. Joel Hurt; $50 for Mr. T. W. Baxter, an $50 for Mr. Anthony Mays.

Secretary Licklider reported a $100 subscription by Mr. Thomas H. Austin.

The contagion of good feeling was such that, after calling on the new members, Captain Howell made another speech, which was warmly applauded.

This Young Men's Christian Association is a good thing, said he, "not only in a religious sense, but in a business way. Atlanta never made a better business investment than in this building."

Mr. E. P. Chamberlin came next. "I report," said he, "$100 subscribed by Postmaster General Wana-maker. (Great applause.) The way it came about was this. I wanted him to go by and see the Young Men's Christian Association building, but he couldn't go so far of lack of time. But he was interested in the matter—more in the Young Men's Christian Association work than in any other subject that had come up—and incidentally I told him about the work now in hand. 'I'm glad you mentioned that,' said he. 'Put me down for $100.' I was afraid he would think my mentioning the matter was a hint, and I replied, 'I told him we did not need his money. In raising the money in a few days in Atlanta, I understand how you feel,' said he, 'but I am really glad you mentioned it. I insist on giving $100.' And as I couldn't well refuse, I accepted."

"Did you tell him to come again?" asked Governor Northen.

"I did," said Mr. Chamberlin, "and invited him to become a citizen of Atlanta."

Dr. Hayes and Dr. Anderson spoke warmly in commending the work, urging its real importance. No subscription would be received from either of them.

"Because you are preachers," said Captain Howell, "and we don't want to rob Peter to pay Paul."

Mr. Frank Inman didn't have a speech, but blushing reported $100 subscription for himself and $25 for his brother Henry.

The applause embraced him again. "Now, governor," said Captain Howell, "we overlooked you the other night because you were a visitor, but you're at home tonight and we're going to tackle you."

The governor responded in a ringing talk, and then came down honestly to the matter of making a subscription.

"How much, Mr. Northen," he asked, turning to his wife, "can I give?"

"As much as you like," was the happy reply, and the laugh was then on the governor. "I'd like to give a thousand," said the governor.

"Now, Mr. Northen," was the doubtful protest.

He said I'd like to give that much," laughed the governor. "I'll give $50."

There was another song by the octette—there were three or four other octettes, and the singing was notably good—and the governor called attention to the singers.

"I've had the worth of my money back," he said, "in that song."

Mr. C. R. Haskins subscribed $75. Mr. Menzo White was next.

"I'm a Young Men's Christian Association boy from the ground up," he said. "They pulled me out of the mud, and I can afford to give them $25, and $25 more for my wife here."

In English was called on for a talk, and he did a good one.

"An influence as this," said he, "are needed in society, and in business, and in education. They are a safeguard about our institutions—a citadel of conservatism. It's cheap to build such institutions as this, but it's a building that will last, and it's a building that will stand before they go wrong. Except the Young Men's Library, this is absolutely the only place in Atlanta where a young man can spend his evenings."

pleasantly, and, at the same time, under good moral influences."

Mr. A. A. DeLoach contributed $25.

Mr. Bruce contributed $25.

Mr. W. A. Hemphill reported two subscriptions.

"Frank Block told me to hand in a subscription for him, but instead of leaving the amount to me, I'll make it $150 for him. Mr. Hemphill's generosity was applauded. The other subscription was $25, by Mr. Albert Block."

Another subscription was reported—Mr. J. B. Stewart, $25.

This made the total of subscriptions reported during the evening $2,110. This, added to the $6,385 already raised, made a grand total of $8,495.

"Why not make it even?" suggested some one.

"I believe I'll make Frank Block's $50 more," said Mr. Hemphill.

"Oh, yes," continued Mr. Hemphill, as the applause subsided and he was about to take his seat, "another man told me to make a subscription for him. That was J. C. Henderson, and I make it $50 for him."

Secretary Licklider reported $50 more, from five young men at the gymnasium. This made the total amount $8,545.

The amount reported last night—considering the fact that every single subscription was entirely voluntary, sent by telephone or letter to members of the committee, or authorized by exceedingly gratifying.

The general interest manifested may be accounted for by a suggestion of Secretary Licklider's last night: that the number of original contributors, 1,150, was unusually large; three times as many as to any other building of its kind and cost in the United States. People are interested. The very same interest is for the present necessity of calling for more money, as part subscribed is always lost by removal; the percentage being larger as the number of contributors is larger and the average subscription smaller.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, the 20th, at the residence of Mr. A. D. Adams.

Almost beyond doubt the full amount needed will be reported then.

The meeting last night closed with the doxology, and the benediction by Rev. Dr. Hayes.

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

John Boyle O'Reilly.—The Cassell Publishing Company, of New York, has just published a beautiful memorial volume of John Boyle O'Reilly, containing the speeches and poems of this celebrated Irishman. The introduction to the volume is written by Cardinal Gibbons, archbishop of Baltimore. Mr. D. E. Luther, of Atlanta, the southern agent of the firm, is in charge of the distribution of the volume in this section, and has already received many applications for it.

Acting Coroner.—Judge S. H. Landrum is now acting coroner, Major Ben Davis, coroner of Fulton county, having gone to Lithia Springs for his health. Major Davis left for the springs last night.

Improvement in Teachers.—County School Commissioner Atterbury, of Cherokee county, who was in the city yesterday, said: "There is a marked improvement each year in the examination papers of those applying for schools, and many of the teachers are now availing themselves of the opportunities offered for improvement by attending the normal schools. Here study and contact with teachers who are acquainted with the best methods rapidly advance them, and in a few years they become first-class teachers."

Sunday School Meeting Tomorrow.—Mrs. Craft, of New York, will reach Atlanta today. She will address a meeting of the Sunday schools at the First Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, and conduct a model primary class, composed of little children from several of the leading primary schools. Mrs. Craft has a national reputation in this department of Sunday school work, and should be greeted by a full house.

William Reynolds, of Illinois, will be present at the meeting. He is a native of this city, and has been a member of the Sunday schools at the First Methodist church on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

H. H. Norment Wanted.—A telegram has been received from Macon requesting that the following be published: "R. H. Norment, come home; mother dead." The telegram is signed J. H. Norment.

Street Committee.—The members of the street committee met yesterday afternoon looking over the plans for the fifth and sixth wards. The committee returned from their observation tour it was so late that no meeting of the committee was held.

Presbytery of Atlanta.—This evening at 7:30 o'clock, the presbytery of Atlanta will convene at Lithonia. The presbytery is one of the strongest in the state, and in the evangelical field accomplishes much good. The meeting will be watched with interest by all Presbyterians.

A Victory Journalist.—Colonel L. M. Harris, a leading and progressive citizen of Columbus, is in the city. Colonel Harris is connected with the Columbus Enquirer-Sun, and his efforts are always directed to the development of Georgia and the upbuilding of the town.

He Got Lost in Atlanta.—Mr. Franklin White, of Franklin, Tenn., a veteran of the war, was yesterday comparing the city as it is with what it was. "I have not been in Atlanta," said he, "since the days when I was one of the boys in gray who faced General Sherman in his memorable march to the sea. Those were the days of hard work and bullets, and now, judging from Atlanta's wealth, I am certainly in the days of peace and plenty. I can hardly find an old landmark, and in my efforts to find one I have been completely lost on ground that I have camped and marched on."

To Pave the Streets.—The citizens of that portion of the fifth ward adjacent to Pine, McAfee, Fowler and Noble streets, have decided to go to work in good earnest to have those streets paved and sidewalks laid. They will appear before the council at the next meeting and urge their claims for recognition by the city authorities.

Drilling Again.—The police department has begun drilling again. Chief Connolly issued the order several days ago and the men of the different companies are now getting in shape for Memorial Day. Most of the men are already pretty well up in handling their guns, and the new ones will be in the trim by the 26th.

ACCEPTED AND PAID FOR.

The Police Signal System Accepted by the City.

At its last meeting the board of police commissioners accepted the signal system which has been in course of erection since last October.

The system was put up by the Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company of Boston at a contract price of $10,000 for fifty stations with office and stable apparatus.

About a month ago the department began installing the new system, and since its completion Mr. W. B. Walker, city superintendent of electrical construction, has made a thorough examination of it.

Before the board accepted the work Mr. Walker made a written report covering the entire system in detail. Mr. Walker's report stated that the system was perfect throughout, with the exception of a few minor details of adjustment, which could only be perfected by experience in its use, and recommended that it be accepted by the board.

As stated this was done, and a check for $10,000 filled out.

RICHMOND AND DANVILLE.

The Great Piedmont Air-Line and the Washington Vestibule Train.

The Washington Limited Pullman Vestibule Train, composed of Sleeping, Drawing-room, Library, Smoking and Observation Cars, to leave Atlanta in 19 hours, to New York in 26 hours. Elegant dining car service. Additional fare Atlanta to Washington, $4, which includes Pullman accommodations. Two other through trains without change between Atlanta and the National Capital. Through Pullman service to New York city on the night train. Connections assured and service guaranteed. Ticket office in Union Depot and at No. 13 Kimball house.

Beautiful Tops.

On Emma and D'Albany streets at auction this afternoon at 4 o'clock sharp. The Marquis street 2,200 sq. ft. G. W. Adams.

NEWS OF SOCIETY.

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST IN THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Wedding Ceremonies Past and to Come. Gossip About People in Atlanta and Through Georgia.

The formation in Georgia of a branch of the Daughters of the Revolution is of a very considerable interest. It is, of course, especially interesting to the women who are eligible to membership, but it is more than that, for everybody must endorse the purposes of the organization and the patriotic spirit that the Daughters of the Revolution is started under auspices most favorable. Among the ladies who took part in the preliminary organization were:

Mrs. Dr. Johnston, Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. John Fitten, Mrs. S. Scott, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Lila Browne, Mrs. Shanks, Mrs. Byers, Mrs. J. C. Henderson, Mrs. W. L. Peel, Mrs. Salome McKinley Hagan, Mrs. H. K. F. Smith, Mrs. M. R. Placock, Mrs. John C. Whitner, the Misses Haynes, Mrs. T. A. Hammond, Mrs. Orme, Mrs. Luther Glenn, Mrs. J. T. Glenn, Mrs. John Milledge, Mrs. Joseph Morgan, Mrs. Dr. Olmstead, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Peyton Snook, Mrs. Malone, Miss Jennie Cohen.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock Professor Weiss, of Macon, gave an organ recital on the new organ at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Only a few invited friends were present. Professor Weiss began by improvising a few sections, in which all the stops were displayed to best advantage. The organ is a masterpiece of the leading authors, all of which were heartily enjoyed for the appreciative audience.

Professor Weiss has studied under the best teachers in the United States, and Boston he received instructions from Eugene Thayer, the noted Catholic music, and is at present organist at the cathedral in Baltimore. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the new organ which the Church of the Immaculate Conception has just put in.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ransford are registered at the Kimball house. They were married at St. John's cathedral, Savannah, Wednesday morning, by Rev. General Caffery. The bride was Miss Maggie McRae, daughter of the reigning belle of the Forest City, and has hosts of friends. Mr. Ransford is a former Atlanta boy, and now holds a responsible position on the Central railroad. The happy couple were called upon yesterday by quite a number of friends.

The Y.M.H. will hold a meeting of importance at the First Methodist church at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Tonight at the Washington seminary "King Rene's Daughter" library entertainment will be given. The young ladies of the seminary take much interest in the library entertainment, and their effort to make it a success insures to all who attend a pleasant evening.

Mr. Thomas C. Hogue, of Washington, Ga., is in the city stopping at the Leyden house. Mr. Hogue was Miss Russell from Kentucky, and one of the most popular ladies of the Blue Grass state.

Mr. Frederic Jewett Cooke, of Boston, who has been so long and popularly known as the society director, is now acting as secretary of a large and growing insurance company in New Orleans. Last evening he entertained a choice circle of friends with a delightful farewell lunch at his rooms in the Ballard house.

Where will the bonnet bows of this season end? Such fly-away bows as were never seen before. They are made of straw and lace, and are bound there, is a little difficult. More than anything else it resembles a pie plate, turned up in the back, flared up slightly in front and coming down a little on either side. These plates have intricate trimmings, the fringes sometimes contain white garden underneath the brim and always have at least one large and remarkably gaily-looking bow in the middle of the back. They come in many sizes, from the smallest affairs they expand into sizes large enough for the summer girl to shade one head besides her own.

GRIFFIN, Ga., April 16.—(Special.)—Social Griffin has been on the qui vive this week in anticipation of several elegant entertainments. Then, too, the Griffin family is to be married. Mr. Brown was looked forward to with great eagerness by the friends of the bride, who, by the way, number all who know her.

Monday night at the residence of Mrs. J. D. Boyd entertained a large number of young ladies and gentlemen at a "yellow tea." The affair was tendered complimentary to Miss Jones and her future husband, who had arrived on the morning train. The large and elegant hall, where the affair was held, was filled with the beauty of the Griffin family, and the surrounding towns and cities to do honor to the occasion.

In the evening hall a soft, yellow light fell in even rays over one of the most elegantly laden tables that imagination can picture. The superb and beautiful table, which was the center of the room, was artistically hand painted, and will long be kept in happy recollection of this pleasant occasion.

Tuesday evening the bride-to-be held her reception at her father's residence on Poplar street. It was a most delightful affair, and the guests, who were a large number of the social folk, and was an occasion of great social pleasure.

Wednesday evening at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. F. M. Daniel officiating, Miss Flora Montrose Jones, of Atlanta, is married to Colonel Victor M. Brown, of Joplin, Mo.

The church was elaborately and exquisitely decorated with choice flowers, and the bride being worn in so as to render a pleasing effect.

The little misses and masters enjoyed a pleasant evening. Friday at the residence of Mr. Thompson, the occasion being a German.

Dr. and Mrs. N. B. Dwyer left Wednesday for the residence of Mr. J. P. Seay, after which they will visit relatives and friends in Virginia.

Mr. J. E. DeVaughn, of Montezuma, formerly of Atlanta, where they will spend a month, is in the city on a visit to his mother. They will remain away all summer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McFarland left Tuesday for Kentucky to visit Mr. McFarland's mother, where they will spend some weeks.

Miss Mamie Taylor, a beautiful and accomplished young lady, is visiting here. She is the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. H. Taylor, and other friends here.

Mrs. J. E. DeVaughn, of Montezuma, formerly of Atlanta, where they will spend a month, is in the city on a visit to his mother. They will remain away all summer.

Miss Viola Rodgers, of Macon, is visiting the family of Mr. F. A. Freeman, near the city. Mr. May Stafford, of Barstow, has been in the city with friends during the week.

Miss Maude Stubbs, a beautiful and attractive young lady, of Dublin, Ga., is visiting Mrs. R. H. Drake.

Miss Lorraine King, a fascinating lady of Joplin, Mo., left for home Wednesday evening after a pleasant visit of several months to relatives here. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Brown.

Mrs. W. E. Dressel left several days in the city, the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. M. Dwyer.

JACKSON, Ga., April 16.—(Special.)—Married at the residence of Mr. J. P. McKibbin, Mr. W. A. Kelly, of Social Circle, to Miss Lizzie Morris, of Butts county.

MILLEDORVILLE, Ga., April 16.—(Special.)—One of the most thoroughly enjoyable entertainments that has been given in this city was that of the cadets and literary societies of the "Blue and Gray" Friday night. The college chapel was packed with a great audience, and it is doubtful if an audience was ever more highly entertained. The music was given by the cadets, and the literary societies of the St. Cecilia Club, and was of the highest type of vocal and instrumental melody. The programme was opened with ten little capering "Tulips," which kept the crowd in a roar of laughter. Then the debate on the "Blue and Gray" was followed by an exhibition drill of the cadets, which was faultless. Then came the "Colloquy of Nations," in which a dozen pretty misses, representing different nations, added new beauty to the already delightful programme. After this, Captain Crawford, representing the judges, stated that the debate had been won by the negatives on the merits of the argument. The program was gotten up by Fredrick Berends, and was a great success.

On Monday night a pleasant party gathered at the residence of Mr. O. R. E. at 10 o'clock.

delightfully entertained by Misses Ellen and Mamie Fox.

On Wednesday night an elegant reception was given by Miss Lela Traylor. Quite a crowd of society people were in attendance, and the evening was delightfully spent. Refreshments were served, and Miss Lela's skill as an entertainer was happily proven.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights a large crowd attended the opening of T. L. McComb & Co.'s millinery establishment. Their elegant new building on the corner of Wayne and Hancock streets was exquisitely decorated, while the store was brilliantly illuminated by 400 lights. The young ladies of the city were accompanied by their beaux, and the occasion was turned into a social bazaar. The occasion was a novel one in this city, and the enterprise of its originators was highly commended.

Miss Ada Frobel, of Atlanta, is visiting Mrs. P. M. Compton, on Clarke street.

Miss Pearl Walker, of Gordon, is spending a few days with Miss Sallie Perkins, on North Wayne street.

POLICE CHANGES.

The Election of Assistant Chief Makes a Change in Rules.

The creation of the office of assistant chief of police, with the election of Captain Connolly, has caused several changes in the rules governing the force.

Under the new order, captains are required to spend their time on the streets instead of at the station house as heretofore.

The sergeants are also required to remain on the streets without making reports at the station house, except when absolutely necessary.

Heretofore the captains were expected to be either at the station house or within easy call in order that they might be consulted by their men, and give directions to them.

But now the rule is that either the chief or assistant chief shall be at headquarters to direct the force, or attend to business with the chief. When Chief Connolly is on Chief's Couch is in, and vice versa.

Sergeants were formerly required to report at the station house after each round, and to make reports relative to the work and condition of their men.

Captains now do this, outside of which his required duties are about the same as the detective patrolman—patrolmen receive $100 per month while regular men get $80.

The new rule does not please the captains well. "It is a good thing it was not adopted before the election," one of the captains remarked. "If it had been we would have been out of a captain's job, because as it is we are of no more service than ordinary patrolmen, except, perhaps, that our heads are larger. It has heretofore been customary for captains to be directly in charge of their respective watches. As it is now, for instance, while I am patrolling away out Peachtree street, probably there would be a riot on Peters street and I'd know nothing about it, maybe, until it was all over, when I'd be called in to see what had happened. I'd be ready to head our men when emergency arises."

"Then we are not enabled to keep up with the working of our watches. Of course we are under the old rule. Of course the chief or assistant chief is at headquarters—but what are we here for? That's why I think the new rule wasn't tried before the election."

A STRANGE ABSENCE.

Is Causing the Relatives of Mrs. Massey Much Anxiety.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Massey, the lady who disappeared from Brunswick about two weeks ago, remains as yet as great a mystery as when she first disappeared.

The last seen of her was by the captain of the steamer, in which she returned from St. Simon's island. Since then not a word of definite information has been received concerning her.

A few days ago, Mr. McIntosh, the brother of Mrs. Massey, commenced an active search for his missing sister. Down to Jacksonville, then over to Sanford, then back to Jacksonville, he went, thinking himself upon her trail. From later developments he thinks he was following the wrong person, and on Wednesday he returned home completely baffled.

No one acquainted with Mrs. Massey is known to have seen her in the meanwhile. Rumors of her being here and there flew thick and fast, but these were due to the description given of her, and in every instance proved to be false.

The family of Mr. R. J. Massey living at 218 Creek street, while hoping for the best, has fears to the contrary. Any news about her, even though unfavorable, would be gladly received just now.

WELL CALLED FOR.

Mrs. Goff and Her Daughters in Fulton County Jail.

Mrs. Goff and her two daughters are in Fulton county jail. Their apartments are as comfortably arranged as could possibly be under the circumstances.

They are still hopeful of a pardon from Governor Northen, and are willing away the time of their confinement as best they can.

They have three rooms in the second story of the building, and are kept aloof from the common criminals in the cells below.

It is really pitiful to witness their uneducated and unlearned condition. They all persist in protesting their innocence, and the visitor is impressed by the frank and open-hearted manner in which they express themselves.

The ladies of the King's Daughters and of the Home for the Friendless are still at work in their behalf.

Governor Northen has been investigating the case, and gives it as his opinion—though no order to that effect has been made—that Mrs. Goff will have to serve her sentence; but the sentence of the daughters will probably be commuted.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Wholesale by H. A. Boynton and Shropshire & Dodd, Atlanta, Ga.

Atlanta's Leading Jewelers, MAIER & BERKELE, 93 WHITEHALL STREET, ATLANTA

Stop Thief! This is not a Green Turtle. A good thing for the housewife. MAKE THE BEST CREAM

The Shortest Time. KING HARDWARE CO.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

CLEVELAND DEFEATS PITTSBURGH IN A GAME AT MACON.

The Clubs Play There Again Today—In Atlanta Tomorrow—Yesterday's Association Games—Memphis Races.

The Cleveland-Pittsburgh game at Piedmont park tomorrow is the talk of the city.

This will probably be the only opportunity of the year to witness anything like good baseball, and every lover of the game who can possibly do so will avail himself of this opportunity.

To see two league clubs made up of the best known players of the country is a treat not often enjoyed here in the south.

The two clubs will reach the city tomorrow morning. The game will be called at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

In order that everybody may be able to see the game, the price of admission has been fixed at 25 cents. Ample transportation facilities will be provided, and the crowd will be well handled.

The Game at Macon. Macon, Ga., April 16.—(Special.)—Heavy batting and good

Mr. W. H. McDoel, who has been traffic manager of the Monon, has been appointed general manager of that system under the new

Young's Hotspur Relish and White Artichoke
Pickles for sale by Tidwell & Pope and Frank E
Lock. Try them. Young & Morris, Manufacturers
59 South Broad st. dec22-dsm

Now that, right now, fresh fish are cheaper than anything else. Try Henry's market for the truth on this statement.

W. H. McDONALD,
Traffic Manager.

JAMES BARRER,
Gen. Pass. Agent,
April-1918.

Van Winkle Gin and Machinery Co., Office 210 Marietta Street.

WE HAVE

Several handsome solid Silver Tea Sets in stock. Nothing more beautiful ever shown here before.

Freeman & Crankshaw.

Hickey's Magic Hairline

For the prevention of baldness, removing dandruff and all other diseases of the scalp. Contains no oil, and is a perfect dressing for the hair. Treats on the scalp and its diseases sent free on application. For sale by all druggists and by the manufacturer.

R. J. HICKEY,
Box 1 City, No. 212, 214 6th St., Augusta, Ga.

PERFECTED CRYSTAL LENSES

TRADE MARK.
Gallity First and Always.

We have unequal facilities for the manufacture of Spectacles and Eye-Glasses. We grind all kinds of Lenses, plain or compound.

FAULKNER, KELLAM & MOORE,
Scientific Opticians,
18 Marietta Street, Old Capitol Building.

BROWN & WATSON

27 Marietta Street.

$500 per acre for 10 acres on Howell's Mill road, with small house and fine orchard.
$8,000—115 acres on Howell's Mill road, good house and barn; near in.
$6,500—Takes 12 acres of Howell's Mill road, close in, with good house, barn, orchard, etc. Come and see this; it's a daisy.
$250 per acre buys 100 acres, with nearly a mile frontage on Howell's Mill road and electric line, beautifully timbered.
$200 per acre will take 40 acres, with good new 5-room house, on Howell's Mill road.
$225 per acre buys 50 acres on Marietta road, this side L. & N. R. V. road, near in.
$350 per acre will take 20 acres on Boulevard, if taken this week.
$16,000 buys 20 acres on Bolt Line, this side of Van Winkle's shops.
$400 per acre for 5 acres on Simpson street.
$4,500 will buy nice house on Baker street; easy terms.
$1,500 per acre for 10 acres at Angier Springs.
$1,500 per acre for 10 acres on Fair Line, near in and good frontage; fine manufacturing site.
$500 per lot will buy 4 lots on Gresham street, on new electric line.
$1,000 for 50x100 to 100-foot alley on West Baker street, near Williams.
$75 per front foot will buy one of the choicest lots on North Boulevard, nearly opposite the Rhinehardt block. This is a bargain.
We have lots, houses and lots, in all parts of the city. Call and see us before purchasing.

BROWN & WATSON,

27 MARIETTA STREET.

H. L. WILSON,
REAL ESTATE AGENT

3 PRYOR ST., KIMBALL HOUSE.

Persons desiring real estate, either for stores, residences, manufacturing or speculative purposes, will find it to their interest, financially, to call at my office. Having lived in Atlanta since 1852, I feel that I am prepared to serve buyers advantageously. I sold $1,000,000 worth of good real estate during the first half of 1890, I devote my entire time to selling and buying real estate on commission.
These parties engaging my services get the full benefit of my experience and knowledge of the business.
All of my transactions are on strictly legitimate business principles; every sale is quickly settled up. I refer you to my past successful record.
16 acres on Ashby, near in.
$6,500—New house on Powers street.
$4,000—Extra home on E. Baker st.
$5,000—20x100, Peachtree.
$2,000—5-r house cor. Inman ave. and Calhoun.
10-room house, Fair street, cheap.
$7,500—For 10x100 feet, Wilson street, near in.
20 acres on Air-Line railroad, just north of Highland ave.
$12,500—Cheap Peachtree home.
Administrators and executors, or persons who want the cash for their property, will save money by consulting me.
Jan 11—dim sp. H. L. WILSON.

GOLD SMITH,

30 S. BROAD STREET.

$7,500—Lovely corner lot between the two Peachtree streets, over one acre in size. This is a bargain. Come and get it today. Do not delay.
$6,000 buys a lot 78x200, on Baugh st., and a good 5-room house. Also an adjoining lot, 50x200; both having 10-foot frontage on Baugh street. Also one acre back of these. All for $6,000.
$10,000—Beautiful property, 3 acres—long front on Peachtree street. Can be subdivided and sold for good profit in May.
$13 a front foot for lovely lots on Queen st., West End, near and electric line. Paved sidewalks and the very place for an elegant home. Will double in value in the next few weeks—house, as soon as the electric line is completed. Now is the time to get this splendid property cheap.
$1,200 for a lovely lot near the Park Street Methodist church, in the very best neighborhood of West End.
$5,000 for a beautiful home on Highland avenue; modern, tasty home in the very best neighborhood, and right at electric line. Sixty feet front. Belgian pavement being laid. Water and gas.
$5,000—Beautiful home, 7 rooms and kitchen. Water and gas. Lot 70x140, on Capitol avenue, on corner, near in.
$2,500—A nice house at Mason's crossing—new house. Lot 150x200.
$3,500—Four houses renting for $24 a month. Lot 10x20, on Glenn street, 100 feet of new electric line.
$15,000 buys one of the loveliest homes on the north side, with every convenience. Large and beautiful grounds, and the surroundings unequalled.
$12,500 for a lot on Mitchell street, near corner Pryor street, 50x70. Here is a place to put your money.
$25,000 for the best central lot—nearly 20 feet front, on Marietta street. The best bargain in central property on the market.
$7,500—Seven-room house, lot 70x200, on Ponce de Leon avenue.
$11,500—Beautiful Peachtree lot, corner of Wilson ave, 100x210 to alley. One of the prettiest lots on the street. Place for an elegant home.
$5,500 for lovely lot on North Boulevard, 80x327, running back to Center street. Two beautiful fronts, and 200 feet of Peachtree.
$2,500 for Jackson street, near in, 50x100, 60x150, Highland pavement.
$2,500 for Boulevard lot, shady and beautiful, 60x150. Electric line, 100 feet front.
$6,500—Nice 2-story house on Boulevard, 150 feet of Highland avenue and electric line. Very cheap.
$8,000—Beautiful home on lot 80x180, on Jackson street, on west side of street and a lovely home. Grounds nicely terraced.

Maier & Berke have a full line of Spectacles and Eye Glasses, and a practical optician to fit them properly. 93 Whitehall street.
ap 5r-dw

E. BLACK,

No. 9, KIMBALL HOUSE, WALL STREET.

ITS ANNIVERSARY.

THE SEVENTEENTH ONE OF THE ALCIOPHONIAN SOCIETY.

It will be held in Browning Hall, at the Girls' High School, at Noon Today.

The seventeenth anniversary of the Alciophonian Literary and Debating Society of the Boys' High school will be celebrated today. The exercises will be held in Browning hall at the Girls' High school, beginning promptly at 12 o'clock.

Despite the fact that the society has reached its seventeenth birthday, its anniversaries have never before been publicly celebrated. It is intended that today's exercises shall mark the inauguration of regular annual observances of the society's foundation.

An interesting programme has been prepared. The public is invited to be present, and those who go are assured pleasant and gratifying entertainment.

Some of the brightest and most successful men in Atlanta have been members of the A. L. D. Society, and its fraternal influence is still dear to them. To these ex-members a special invitation is extended.

At present the society has a membership of 130, and is in a most flourishing condition.

The following are the officers:
O. C. Turner, president.
Holcombe Bacon, vice president.
N. P. Wood, secretary.
Frank R. Mitchell, assistant secretary.

The programme includes speeches, recitations and music, with short addresses by members of the council, members of the board of education and prominent ex-members of the society.

President Turner will open the exercises by an address touching the history of the society.

Following this there will be recitations by P. S. Daniel, Ed Lovejoy and Graham Moses. A violin solo by Frank Boland, with piano accompaniment by Raymond Barth, is next.

Then comes the debate of the question, "Resolved, That Hamlet was Insane." Messrs. Solomon N. Clarke, S. C. Dean and Cecil Alexander will support the affirmative, and the negative side will be championed by Holcombe Bacon, G. P. Thomas and Charles Atkinson.

The decision of the question is left to the president, after which P. L. Fleming and B. N. Thornton, critics of the society, will amuse the audience in their remarks.

This concludes the programme so far as members of the society participate.

Members of the board, council and others will then be called upon for brief speeches. On June 3d the society will hold its regular annual closing exercises.

IMPROVING CUMBERLAND.

President George Duncan, of Macon, Tells of the Work Going On.

President George Duncan, of the new Cumberland Company, while in Atlanta a few days ago, gave some interesting information about the work going on at Cumberland Island.

"The people who have visited there before will scarcely know it this summer," said Mr. Duncan. "We are putting everything in ship-shape, and everything will be in perfect order by the time we open for the season. Indeed, we are not going to open until everything is ready. We have built two large cottages and a number of small ones, and have very largely increased the capacity of the hotel. The dining room has been remodeled entirely, and now makes a very commodious apartment. We have engaged a splendid steward, and have already arranged for our fishing squads for the season, as we propose to make a specialty of serving fresh fish throughout the summer."

"I have bought magnificent ranges, and everything about the kitchen and dining room is as perfect as can be made. We have bought new bed-dings and mattresses for the entire establishment, and have gotten the best of everything. The new bathing house has been completed, and a pavilion has been put up right on the beach, over the water when the tide is in. The street-car track has been put in order and we have purchased several new cars. A beautiful fishing pavilion has been built over the creek in front of the hotel, and water has been run through the hotel, which has all the conveniences of bathhouse, etc. We have engaged Wurm's orchestra, of Atlanta, for the season, and I am now on a trip making further arrangements for our opening. Cumberland will have a higher crowd this year than ever before, and there is no doubt that it is going to be the greatest resort in the southern states before we get through with it. I have already arranged for satisfactory transportation rates for the summer, and the public will have no reason to complain of the rates, as they will be lower than ever before."

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething softens the gums and allays all pain. See STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

PERSONAL.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

STAMPS for sale at The Constitution business office.

Swift's Specific

A Tested Remedy For All Blood and Skin Diseases

A reliable cure for Contagious Blood Poison, Inherited Scrofula and Skin Cancer.

As a tonic for delicate Women Children it has no equal.

Being purely vegetable, is harmless in its effects.

A treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free on application.

Druggists Sell It.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO.,
Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

She Saved Her MONEY.

And so can every good Housekeeper by always having on hand

CAMPBELL'S Varnish Stains

It is the only article that has ever been produced by which a housekeeper can satisfactorily retain and varnish with one application and with one coat, all kinds of Household Furniture and Interior Woodwork.

Cherry, Walnut, Mahogany, Rosewood, Light Oak, Vermilion, Ebony, making it look as good as new, and the negative side of it is put up and sold in Half Pint Cans at 30 cts., and in Pint Cans at 50 cts., either the above shades, if you do not find this at your dealer's, ask him to order it for you. For sale in Atlanta by the Southern Paint and Glass Company, wholesale agents, 115-117-119-121-123-125-127-129-131-133-135-137-139-141-143-145-147-149-151-153-155-157-159-161-163-165-167-169-171-173-175-177-179-181-183-185-187-189-191-193-195-197-199-201-203-205-207-209-211-213-215-217-219-221-223-225-227-229-231-233-235-237-239-241-243-245-247-249-251-253-255-257-259-261-263-265-267-269-271-273-275-277-279-281-283-285-287-289-291-293-295-297-299-301-303-305-307-309-311-313-315-317-319-321-323-325-327-329-331-333-335-337-339-341-343-345-347-349-351-353-355-357-359-361-363-365-367-369-371-373-375-377-379-381-383-385-387-389-391-393-395-397-399-401-403-405-407-409-411-413-415-417-419-421-423-425-427-429-431-433-435-437-439-441-443-445-447-449-451-453-455-457-459-461-463-465-467-469-471-473-475-477-479-481-483-485-487-489-491-493-495-497-499-501-503-505-507-509-511-513-515-517-519-521-523-525-527-529-531-533-535-537-539-541-543-545-547-549-551-553-555-557-559-561-563-565-567-569-571-573-575-577-579-581-583-585-587-589-591-593-595-597-599-601-603-605-607-609-611-613-615-617-619-621-623-625-627-629-631-633-635-637-639-641-643-645-647-649-651-653-655-657-659-661-663-665-667-669-671-673-675-677-679-681-683-685-687-689-691-693-695-697-699-701-703-705-707-709-711-713-715-717-719-721-723-725-727-729-731-733-735-737-739-741-743-745-747-749-751-753-755-757-759-761-763-765-767-769-771-773-775-777-779-781-783-785-787-789-791-793-795-797-799-801-803-805-807-809-811-813-815-817-819-821-823-825-827-829-831-833-835-837-839-841-843-845-847-849-851-853-855-857-859-861-863-865-867-869-871-873-875-877-879-881-883-885-887-889-891-893-895-897-899-901-903-905-907-909-911-913-915-917-919-921-923-925-927-929-931-933-935-937-939-941-943-945-947-949-951-953-955-957-959-961-963-965-967-969-971-973-975-977-979-981-983-985-987-989-991-993-995-997-999-1001-1003-1005-1007-1009-1011-1013-1015-1017-1019-1021-1023-1025-1027-1029-1031-1033-1035-1037-1039-1041-1043-1045-1047-1049-1051-1053-1055-1057-1059-1061-1063-1065-1067-1069-1071-1073-1075-1077-1079-1081-1083-1085-1087-1089-1091-1093-1095-1097-1099-1101-1103-1105-1107-1109-1111-1113-1115-1117-1119-1121-1123-1125-1127-1129-1131-1133-1135-1137-1139-1141-1143-1145-1147-1149-1151-1153-1155-1157-1159-1161-1163-1165-1167-1169-1171-1173-1175-1177-1179-1181-1183-1185-1187-1189-1191-1193-1195-1197-1199-1201-1203-1205-1207-1209-1211-1213-1215-1217-1219-1221-1223-1225-1227-1229-1231-1233-1235-1237-1239-1241-1243-1245-1247-1249-1251-1253-1255-1257-1259-1261-1263-1265-1267-1269-1271-1273-1275-1277-1279-1281-1283-1285-1287-1289-1291-1293-1295-1297-1299-1301-1303-1305-1307-1309-1311-1313-1315-1317-1319-1321-1323-1325-1327-1329-1331-1333-1335-1337-1339-1341-1343-1345-1347-1349-1351-1353-1355-1357-1359-1361-1363-1365-1367-1369-1371-1373-1375-1377-1379-1381-1383-1385-1387-1389-1391-1393-1395-1397-1399-1401-1403-1405-1407-1409-1411-1413-1415-1417-1419-1421-1423-1425-1427-1429-1431-1433-1435-1437-1439-1441-1443-1445-1447-1449-1451-1453-1455-1457-1459-1461-1463-1465-1467-1469-1471-1473-1475-1477-1479-1481-1483-1485-1487-1489-1491-1493-1495-1497-1499-1501-1503-1505-1507-1509-1511-1513-1515-1517-1519-1521-1523-1525-1527-1529-1531-1533-1535-1537-1539-1541-1543-1545-1547-1549-1551-1553-1555-1557-1559-1561-1563-1565-1567-1569-1571-1573-1575-1577-1579-1581-1583-1585-1587-1589-1591-1593-1595-1597-1599-1601-1603-1605-1607-1609-1611-1613-1615-1617-1619-1621-1623-1625-1627-1629-1631-1633-1635-1637-1639-1641-1643-1645-1647-1649-1651-1653-1655-1657-1659-1661-1663-1665-1667-1669-1671-1673-1675-1677-1679-1681-1683-1685-1687-1689-1691-1693-1695-1697-1699-1701-1703-1705-1707-1709-1711-1713-1715-1717-1719-1721-1723-1725-1727-1729-1731-1733-1735-1737-1739-1741-1743-1745-1747-1749-1751-1753-1755-1757-1759-1761-1763-1765-1767-1769-1771-1773-1775-1777-1779-1781-1783-1785-1787-1789-1791-1793-1795-1797-1799-1801-1803-1805-1807-1809-1811-1813-1815-1817-1819-1821-1823-1825-1827-1829-1831-1833-1835-1837-1839-1841-1843-1845-1847-1849-1851-1853-1855-1857-1859-1861-1863-1865-1867-1869-1871-1873-1875-1877-1879-1881-1883-1885-1887-1889-1891-1893-1895-1897-1899-1901-1903-1905-1907-1909-1911-1913-1915-1917-1919-1921-1923-1925-1927-1929-1931-1933-1935-1937-1939-1941-1943-1945-1947-1949-1951-1953-1955-1957-1959-1961-1963-1965-1967-1969-1971-1973-1975-1977-1979-1981-1983-1985-1987-1989-1991-1993-1995-1997-1999-2001-2003-2005-2007-2009-2011-2013-2015-2017-2019-2021-2023-2025-2027-2029-2031-2033-2035-2037-2039-2041-2043-2045-2047-2049-2051-2053-2055-2057-2059-2061-2063-2065-2067-2069-2071-2073-2075-2077-2079-2081-2083-2085-2087-2089-2091-2093-2095-2097-2099-2101-2103-2105-2107-2109-2111-2113-2115-2117-2119-2121-2123-2125-2127-2129-2131-2133-2135-2137-2139-2141-2143-2145-2147-2149-2151-2153-2155-2157-2159-2161-2163-2165-2167-2169-2171-2173-2175-2177-2179-2181-2183-2185-2187-2189-2191-2193-2195-2197-2199-2201-2203-2205-2207-2209-2211-2213-2215-2217-2219-2221-2223-2225-2227-2229-2231-2233-2235-2237-2239-2241-2243-2245-2247-2249-2251-2253-2255-2257-2259-2261-2263-2265-2267-2269-2271-2273-2275-2277-2279-2281-2283-2285-2287-2289-2291-2293-2295-2297-2299-2301-2303-2305-2307-2309-2311-2313-2315-2317-2319-2321-2323-2325-2327-2329-2331-2333-2335-2337-2339-2341-2343-2345-2347-2349-2351-2353-2355-2357-2359-2361-2363-2365-2367-2369-2371-2373-2375-2377-2379-2381-2383-2385-2387-2389-2391-2393-2395-2397-2399-2401-2403-2405-2407-2409-2411-2413-2415-2417-2419-2421-2423-2425-2427-2429-2431-2433-2435-2437-2439-2441-2443-2445-2447-2449-2451-2453-2455-2457-2459-2461-2463-2465-2467-2469-2471-2473-2475-2477-2479-2481-2483-2485-2487-2489-2491-2493-2495-2497-2499-2501-2503-2505-2507-2509-2511-2513-2515-2517-2519-2521-2523-2525-2527-2529-2531-2533-2535-2537-2539-2541-2543-2545-2547-2549-2551-2553-2555-2557-2559-2561-2563-2565-2567-2569-2571-2573-2575-2577-2579-2581-2583-2585-2587-2589-2591-2593-2595-2597-2599-2601-2603-2605-2607-2609-2611-2613-2615-2617-2619-2621-2623-2625-2627-2629-2631-2633-2635-2637-2639-2641-2643-2645-2647-2649-2651-2653-2655-2657-2659-2661-2663-2665-2667-2669-2671-2673-2675-2677-2679-2681-2683-2685-2687-2689-2691-2693-2695-2697-2699-2701-2703-2705-2707-2709-2711-2713-2715-2717-2719-2721-2723-2725-2727-2729-2731-2733-2735-2737-2739-2741-2743-2745-2747-2749-2751-2753-2755-2757-2759-2761-2763-2765-2767-2769-2771-2773-2775-2777-2779-2781-2783-2785-2787-2789-2791-2793-2795-2797-2799-2801-2803-2805-2807-2809-2811-2813-2815-2817-2819-2821-2823-2825-2827-2829-2831-2833-2835-2837-2839-2841-2843-2845-2847-2849-2851-2853-2855-2857-2859-2861-2863-2865-2867-2869-2871-2873-2875-2877-2879-2881-2883-2885-2887-2889-2891-2893-2895-2897-2899-2901-2903-2905-2907-2909-2911-2913-2915-2917-2919-2921-2923-2925-2927-2929-2931-2933-2935-2937-2939-2941-2943-2945-2947-2949-2951-2953-2955-2957-2959-2961-2963-2965-2967-2969-2971-2973-2975-2977-2979-2981-2983-2985-2987-2989-2991-2993-2995-2997-2999-3001-3003-3005-3007-3009-301